

2 PANOPTIC POP UP

The cult lifestyle store Le Mill is coming to Delhi in the first week of this month with its latest offering—a chic pop up store located at One Style Mile in Mehrauli. The visiting store will host stylish apparel from Thierry Colson, intricate jewellery from Mawi and Jade Jagger, and exquisite bags by Vanessa Bruno and Yvonne Yvonne. If you're in the mood to update the interiors of your house, home accessories and furniture by Atelier du VIN and Marianne Guidine are sure to give you options for maintaining exclusivity. And lastly, don't miss the quirky pieces by your favourite Indian designers like Savio Jon, Manish Arora, among others.

Luxury goods at Le Mill

3 MALL HOPPING

Orion Mall at Brigade Getaway Campus

Bengaluru-based Brigade Group's latest offering, Orion Mall, is poised to become the city's next fashion hub. Located in the Brigade Gateway campus, it will host high street's hottest brands like Zara, Debenhams, Jack & Jones, Mango, Esprit, U.S. Polo, and Nautica.

4

Span, a light painting by Yann Chatelin

ECLECTIC ART

If you love experimental art, check out the new exhibition called Invisible Ephemeral, Visible Eternal, this month at The Diesel store in Mumbai. This exhibition will showcase 22 light paintings made by world-renowned artists Yann Chatelin and Alexandre Dupeyron.

5

FASHION FIX

Customise your wardrobe at Mumbai's new chic store called The Hab, a venture by Usha International. Showcasing the art of sewing is this haberdashery, which offers a plethora of choices including buttons, borders, zippers, beads, embellishments, threads, do-it-yourself kits, and other miscellaneous items that help you personalise your clothes, gifts, and accessories. This store is a must-check-out for budding fashion enthusiasts, artists, designers, and those looking for a creative fix. Learn the handy skill of sewing and mending rips, and go home with outfits which stand-out in a sea of homogeneous branded attire.

The Hab

Collection of needles in the workshop area

6

Leonardo Da Vinci's work at the Louvre

If you are visiting Paris this month, don't miss the chance to relish Leonardo da Vinci's oeuvre at the Louvre in an ongoing exhibition. An exclusive showcasing which is sponsored by Ferragamo—continuing the spirit of the brand's support of the arts—it will surely delight your inner art aficionado. The exhibition celebrates Leonardo da Vinci's famous masterpiece The Virgin and Child With Saint Anne that recently underwent a thorough restoration. On the occasion of this exhibition, Salvatore Ferragamo will also present its 2013 Resort collection under the historical interiors of the regal French museum.