BEAUTY ROCKS

Your beauty story Best multi-tasking make-up tricks to save the day (in the July 2105 issue) actually saved my day. I am a complete make-up junkie and I love trying new products to experiment with my looks. As a result, I have to stock a lot of items in my handbag all the time. But your story was informative and provided a good insight about the few best products that one should essentially possess. I was so relieved to find that the products could be used in multiple ways. I also loved reading the feature on Clay magic. Multani mitti is an age-old beauty product used to enhance beauty. One that is highly recommended by our grandmothers, too. But I had no idea it can be put to so many uses, as mentioned in your article. Thank you, New Woman, for such useful and wonderful stories.

THE FIRST NIGHT DEAL

In a country like India, sex on the first night is a big thing. It's given so much importance – and talked about by the whole family. I strongly agree that the couple must like each other and needs to be ready before getting intimate. An acquaintance of mine had separated from her husband soon after marriage because her in-laws were pressurising her into having a baby soon. She wanted time to get to know her husband before deciding to take the plunge. Unfortunately, due to the lack of understanding, she was forced to take the drastic step. The article First night - bliss or miss? focussed on the important issue of intimacy that needs to be tackled sensitively by couples. Keep up the good work, New Woman.

ETERNAL BEAUTY

I was elated to come across my favourite actress Lisa Haydon's interview while browsing through your July issue. I have always admired her as a model and actress. It was a delight to know more about the lady in the story Inner beauty lies within. I found it interesting to know her beauty and hair secrets and the way she takes care of her mental health in order to stay physically fit. Her belief that you need to find inner peace to be absolutely fit and beautiful is something very few people know. Good job, New Woman.
